

NRM 299 Resource Management Issues of High Altitudes Field Course

Faculty, School of Graduate Studies, D, or F)

Interim Faculty and Staff

-6926

Peter Fix

Assistant Professor of Outdoor Recreation

ffpjf@uaf.edu

474

Mike Shindler

Assistant Professor of 474-6794

474-7107

Assistant Professor of

Assistant Professor of Policy and Law

hmm@uaf.edu

ffpjf@uaf.edu

474-7407

Norm Harris

Assistant Professor of Range Mgmt

nharris@uaf.edu

ffpjf@uaf.edu

474-7690

474-7020

Stephen Sparrow

Professor of Agronomy

Allison Peterson

Trip expeditor

Mark Peterson

Volunteer trip expeditor

fnwrt@uaf.edu

474-7188, 474-7100

Wanda Tangermann

Field trip coordinator

NRM 290

Student Information

Keep your sleeping bag in your car. Keep in mind that this is in field quarters. Pack your gear accordingly. Spare will be left in your car. Accommodations will be in rooms or cabins. Expeditor will be with the group for the trip. Clean up after meals. Keep a spare for your own personal gear. Washers and dryers are not available. Keep in mind that this is in field quarters. Pack your gear accordingly. Spare will be left in your car. Accommodations will be in rooms or cabins. Expeditor will be with the group for the trip. Clean up after meals. Keep a spare for your own personal gear. Washers and dryers are not available.

Weather

Fairbanks) where the weather is dry and possibly sunny to a maritime climate zone. (Kenai Peninsula)

We will be traveling from a continental climate zone (Fairbanks) where the weather is dry and possibly sunny to a maritime climate zone. (Kenai Peninsula)